WHAT IS THE INDIANA REGISTERED CITIES AND TOWNS PROGRAM?

The Indiana Registered Cities and Towns program was developed by the Indiana Department of Commerce to organize and gather information about Indiana communities. With this information, the State can put your community in touch with new businesses that are looking to expand in Indiana. And that puts your community in the running to attract these new businesses and new business dollars.

But the Indiana Registered Cities and Towns program does more. By providing us with this information, your community must evaluate its industrial resources and develop goals to improve local economic development programs. By having this data on hand, it makes the job of selling your community easier...and more effective.

WHY SHOULD MY COMMUNITY PARTICIPATE IN THE REGISTERED CITIES AND TOWNS PROGRAM?

Economic development and revitalization of Indiana's cities and towns is being recognized as the number one priority for ensuring our strong economic future. Because of this, the competition to attract new business is fierce. Now, more than ever, Indiana communities must take advantage of programs that will identify them as an active member of the economic development process. Can your city or town afford not to be a part of this program?

IS MY COMMUNITY ELIGIBLE TO PARTICIPATE?

Any incorporated Indiana city or town may participate in the Registered Cities and Towns program by supplying the needed information to the Indiana Department of Commerce.

WHAT DOES BEING REGISTERED MEAN?

REGISTERED means bringing together community leaders who are interested in your town's economic development.

*It means forming an Economic Steering Committee. - EDG

REGISTERED means taking a long, hard look at what your community has to offer.

*It means answering an economic development questionnaire.

REGISTERED means a direct line of communication between your community and the industrial marketing programs developed by the State.

*It means supplying a complete list of all available industrial sites and facilities.

REGISTERED means the ability to match your goals and capabilities with prospective businesses looking to locate or expand in Indiana.

*It means supplying information for an Economic Fact File.

WHO DEVELOPED THE INDIANA REGISTERED CITIES AND TOWNS PROGRAM?

Much of the stimulus to develop this program has come from local communities throughout the State who recognized the importance of a consistent approach to community economic development. The Indiana Department of Commerce, along with other state organizations, confirmed the importance of a uniform program to coordinate and gather information, enabling communities to enter into the stream of industrial development opportunities in the shortest possible time.

IS MY COMMUNITY TOO SMALL TO BENEFIT FROM THE PROGRAM?

No community is so small that they should not have a vital interest in their economic development. The Registered Cities and Towns program is an excellent way for Indiana's smaller communities to evaluate the resources that are available to support economic development. By providing us with this information, the Indiana Department of Commerce can refer its business prospects to the communities that are best suited to meet their requirements. Realistic matching of prospects with communities is an important key to the success of the total economic program.

Often, larger communities already have active economic development programs that meet or surpass all the requirements of the Registered Cities and Towns program. Your community might even be one of them. In that case, the Department of Commerce will continue to match your community with prospects, using the latest information you provide us.

HOW CAN MY COMMUNITY BECOME REGISTERED?

Mail the attached coupon requesting registration packet. The packet will provide information on how to complete the necessary steps to become Registered.

Fill out and submit the registration packet to the Community Economic Development Division of the Indiana Department of Commerce and maximize the use of your communities resources.
